Lead coffin, in excellent condition. Upon the top of this coffin (as if done by a nail) are scratched the words :

Quaker Lady.

If any reliance may be placed upon this simple inscription, this coffin undoubtedly contains the remains of Anne, Viscountess Conway, wife of Edward, Viscount Conway, who died 11 Aug. 1683 (see No. 26), and mother of Heneage Conway, who was buried 23 Oct. 1660 (see No. 27). Her Ladyship died at Ragley 23 Feb. 1678, and was buried at Arrow 17 April 1679.

At the time of her death, Lord Conway being in Ireland, the famous Baron Francis Mercury Van Helmont preserved her in her coffin above ground, in spirits of wine, having a glass over her face, in order that her husband might see her before her interment.

Lady Conway having, through many years of most severe bodily pain, sought relief in intense mystical devotion, she was led to admire the patient quietude of the Quakers; and with the opinions of this sect (at that time flushed with all the fervour attendant on novelty, persecution, and success) she was eventually induced to comply.

Burial Register.—1679. Apr. 17 was buried Anne Vicountess Conway.

Affidavit for Anne Vicountess Conway was brought Apr. 23.

2. James Browne (d. ....), legatee under his brother William's will 1602, who bequeathed him "yf he survive or overlyve me xl*s.* in money."

3. Richard Browne (dead 1602), mentioned in his brother William's will 1602 as having bequeathed legacies to his niece Joyce Browne.

Compounded for refusing knighthood, and paid a fine of £10, temp. Chas. I. Ex'or under his uncle William Browne's will 1602, mar. Dorothy .... (bur. [in Caverswall Church, M.I.] 17 Aug. 1618). * Neither will nor letters of administration are recorded at Lichfield or Somerset House.

† A note (in MS.) at the foot of p. 79, vol. i., of a copy of Shaw's 'Staffordshire,' in the British Museum, gives the following pedigree of Ralph Browne's wife, but which I have been unable to corroborate:

"William Whitehall of Bloxwich. = Mary, d. and coh. of John Hardwick of Lindley (d. 1565).

1st, Robert Porter of Stallington. = Mary Whitehall. = 2nd, Radulphus Browne of Caverswall.

William Browne de Shredicote."

‡ No wills at Lichfield for 1642–3.

§ "Ralph Browne" was a tenant of certain lands in Dilhorne, near Caverswall, belonging to Richard Egerton, which were confiscated by the Commonwealth for "treason" 4 May 1654.—'Royalist Composition Papers' (1st Series, vol. xxiii., p. 673).

‖ As now designated, the relationship between William Browne and "Rauffe" Browne would be nephew, not cousin. See also will of Apollonia Browne, in which she calls her brother's child her cousin, instead of nephew. Shakespeare, in 'Romeo and Juliet,' makes Lady Capulet, on seeing the corpse of Tybalt, exclaim :—

"Tybalt, my cousin! oh! my brother's child!"

Lead coffin, in a very good state, with a beautiful loose brass plate upon its centre, and upon the foot a small lead shell, shaped to the body and features of a child. When in the vault, 11 Jan. 1871, I found the brass plate lying between the coffin and the wall, entirely out of sight, and why I should have been led to look for anything there has ever since seemed somewhat mysterious to me.

Dering Bookplates.

Facsimile of the Bookplate of Sir Edward Dering of Surrenden Dering copied from an original impression belonging to Dr. Haslewood, Vicar of Chislet, Kent. A copy of this plate is to be found among the Harleian MSS. Brit. Mus. 1432, fo. 279, and another belongs to the Rev. Francis Haslewood of St. Matthew's, Ipswich. This plate is even of greater rarity than the Dering Bookplate, a facsimile of which was given in Vol. I., p. 285 (Second Series).

The Bookplate of Deborah Lady Dering is perhaps even more scarce than the foregoing. It is reproduced from the fine impression belonging to Dr. Haslewood of Chislet.

Lady Deborah Dering was the only daughter of John Winchester of Nethersole, co. Kent, and married 1 Jan. 1765, at Womenswold, Sir Edward Dering, M.P. for New Romney. She died 20 and was buried 27 March 1818, aged 73, at Pluckley. Her will, dated 1 Nov. 1817, was proved 8 April 1818 (168 Cresswell).

The arms of Winchester are, Argent, a vine growing out of the base leaved and fructed, between two popinjays endorsed feeding upon a cluster of grapes, all proper.

Charlotte, daughter of Sir Edward Dering by Lady Deborah his wife, married at Lambeth Palace, 13 Dec. 1803, Rev. Phillips Monypenny, Vicar of Hadlow, Kent (see his Bookplate). He died 4 Jan. 1841, aged 78, and she, 12 Nov. 1836, æt. 64, both being buried in Rolvenden Church.

Extract from 'The Stratford-on-Avon Herald' for Friday, 29 Nov. 1861.

"Sacrilege at Arrow.—On Sunday morning, the 17th inst., when Mr. Ingram, parish clerk of Arrow, was about to enter the church previous to the morning service, he discovered that the burial vault of the ancient family of Conway, now represented by the Most Noble the Marquis of Hertford, had been sacrilegiously entered by burglars, and the coffins of the noble dead despoiled of a portion of their ornaments, and otherwise injured and defaced. The family vault of the Conways is of considerable extent, and is situated at the east end of the church, immediately under the chancel and communion table. The legitimate entrance to this receptacle of the dead is within the church, which, however, is closed up by masonry, and is only opened for the purpose of its receiving a fresh occupant; but on the outside of the east wall of the church is an aperture of an oval shape, which, however, is secured by transverse iron bars, within which is a latticework of strong wire, in addition to which, projecting from the wall of the church, is a massive semi-circular iron railing of above five feet in height, the top of which is again secured by horizontal bars of iron of considerable thickness. Notwithstanding all these impediments, the marauders managed to effect an entrance. Two bars of the outside railing were, by the exertion of considerable force, so bent as to enable a man to pass through, thus giving them access to the aperture in the wall of the church. Across this opening, in a horizontal direction, was a strong bar of iron, the two ends of which were let into and firmly fixed in the wall; across this were three iron bars placed perpendicularly, and the depredators contrived to break off and force out the upper part of the central perpendicular bar above mentioned, and by that means obtained an entrance to the vault. To do this, very great force must have been used. The stone-work on the left side, though a foot in thickness, has been actually split, apparently by a crow-bar being placed against it in forcing out the iron bar in the centre of the opening, which is but small, and only sufficient to admit a man of moderate dimensions. The thieves were probably incited to these sacrilegious proceedings by the expectation that the coronets placed upon the coffins, together with the handles and other ornaments, were of the precious metals. The coffins and coronets were distinctly visible in the daytime from the churchyard; and when the sun was shining upon them, presented a remarkably glittering appearance. The rascals appear to have tested the coffin plates and handles, and finding that 'all that glitters is not gold,' and that they were for the most part only plated, did not think them worth carrying away. It was at first supposed that only some of the coronets were missing, but the vault being again examined, it was found that not only five coronets but two coffin plates have been carried away."

SOME UNINDEXED WILLS AT LINCOLN.

The following Wills have recently been found in the Bishop's Registry at Lincoln, amongst a collection of Marriage and Administration Bonds, and as they almost all relate to a period for which Lincoln is comparatively destitute of records, (those in actual use at the time of Cromwell's visit having apparently been destroyed,) this list will no doubt be of interest, especially as most of these Wills are not found in the Indexes of the Probate Registry.

* The earlier register of Withington has been mislaid, and, at the time of my visit to Withington in 1885, was not forthcoming.

† Upon the bookplate of Thomas Dickin Browne his arms are erroneously displayed as follows: Ermine, on a fess embattled (should be counter-embattled) three escallops argent; and upon a shield of pretence, Vair-en-point argent and gules, on a pale or three trefoils slipped vert (for TURNER of Swanwick). Mr. Browne lived and died a bachelor, while displaying to the present and future generations of the (heraldic) world his marriage with an heiress upon his bookplate! This mistake arose from copying the coat of arms given in Glover's 'History of Derbyshire,' which recorded the marriage of Thomas Browne of Chesterfield with an heiress of the Turner family. A copy of this curious bookplate is in the possession of Mrs. Miller of Hamilton Square, Birkenhead.

K. 2. Sarah Emma Wood (living 1886), mar., first ([at Oxon Church in parish St. Chad, co. Salop], 1 Nov. 1860) William Atcherley Dickin, Esq. (b. 3 June 1834; d. 9 Aug. 1867; bur. at Farnworth, Lanc.), fourth son of Roger Spencer Dickin, Esq., of The Hall, Wem. Issue:—

Lord or Laward.—Thomas Lord, b. about 1585; his wife Dorothy, b. about 1590; their children Richard, Thomas, Ann, William, John, Robert, Aymee, and Dorothy emigrated to New England in 1635. They were a wealthy and prominent family. Mrs. Dorothy Lord, widow of Thomas, used on the seal of her will the arms given as those of the "Laward alias Lord" family—Argent, on a fess gules between three cinquefoils azure a hind passant between two pheons or. What part of England was the original seat of that family, and who are now its principal representatives? Can this Thomas Lord and his family be found in its pedigrees? Are there any printed pedigrees of the family which uses these arms? If so, where?

Marvin, Mervyn, Mervin.—Matthew and Reinold, Reynold, or Reginald Marvin, perhaps Mervin or Mervyn, emigrated to New England with their families before 1648. They are supposed to have been brothers. In America they were large landholders, took important parts in public affairs, and founders of leading families. Information is desired in relation to their birthplace and ancestry.

Replies to these queries are much desired immediately by Mrs. Edward Elbridge Salisbury, New Haven, Connecticut, United States of America, in the preparation of a large genealogical work.

After the publication of this at Oxford, the University decreed, in full convocation, 22 March 1720, that solemn thanks should be returned to the Bishop for having so fully asserted the rights, privileges, and dignities belonging to the University degrees in this book."—Ormerod's 'Hist. of Chester,' p. 80.

The cause was first tried at the Lancaster Assizes 13 Aug. 1722. The argument in favour of the Archbishop's right to grant the degree (which dates from 25 Hen. VIII., 1534) was, it is said, conducted with "much learning and research." The notes for the instruction of Counsel are with Bishop Chandler's papers in the British Museum (Add. MS. 6489). The hearing occupied fifteen hours (Lambeth MS. 1133). The case was then carried by appeal before the King's Bench, where it was decided in favour of the Archbishop 22 May 1725. By a curious coincidence the Rev. Samuel Peploe succeeded his adversary (Dr. Gastrell) in the Bishopric of Chester.

* In a 'Peerage Directory,' 1727 (reprinted in the 'Genealogist', 1884, vol. i., p. 49), Dr. Peploe, Bishop of Chester, is mentioned as living in Queen Street, London. There is a portrait of Bishop Peploe at Garnstone Castle, co. Hereford.

† The publications here given are in the British Museum. They doubtless form only a small portion of his Lordship's works. The late Very Rev. J. S. Howson, D.D., Dean of Chester, informed me that Mr. Peploe's Sermons were much admired at the time by the Duke of Cumberland, who, upon hearing Mr. Peploe preach before he had obtained preferment, was graciously pleased to declare that he who was now "peep-low" should be made to "peep-high;" an exhibition of His Grace's wit of such intense brilliancy and captivating delicacy that we cannot wonder at its being so long and faithfully remembered.

Genealogy of Browne.*

Extract from a Manuscript† containing "Church Notes in co. Stafford, 1679–80," recording an inscription upon a slab in Bradeley Church, to the memory of Thomas Browne, Esq., of Shredicote. The slab has since disappeared.

"In Bradeley Church

This Thomas Browne is further commemorated in the following graceful decasyllabic lines in incised letters upon a large plate above the kneeling effigies of Thomas Browne and his wife. The plate is still evident.

Browne Coat Armour.

The earliest record of the Brownes of Caverswall, and afterwards of Shredicote and Hungry Bentley, being entitled to bear "coat armour" is a confirmation of arms and crest by Sir William Camden, Clarencieux King of Arms, in May 1614, to Thomas Browne of Shredicote, co. Stafford, of which a facsimile is given (Fig. 1—see Plate) from the records of the College of Arms. (M. 2, fo. 3.)

And there is another tricking (Fig. 2—see Plate) in the same records (Ed. N. 5670, B.) which states, erroneously, that the grant was made by "Sir W^m^ Cooke, Clarenc^x^"; no one of that name having held the office of Clarencieux.

But Sir William Camden's original record of the grant or confirmation is in the Harleian MSS. at the British Museum, where, in MS. No. 6095, fol. 31, is the following sketch by Sir William Camden (Fig. 3, p. 162). The volume is endorsed "Grants of Arms," and the written title-page is as follows:—

* Continued from page 146.

† The following is the reference to this MS. in the William Salt Library at Stafford: "147. Dugdale, Sir William. A Memorandum Book in his hand containing account of various work done. Diary of his Proceedings, Church Notes, in the co. of Stafford, &c., 1679—1680." The Librarian states that the MS. is not in the handwriting of Sir William Dugdale, but of his clerk, Gregory King, who afterwards became Rouge Dragon Pursuivant.

§ Sic, should be Arctubus. || Sic, should be sexto.

¶ The translation: "Here lies buried the body of Thomas Browne, during his lifetime of Shredicot, one of the Proctors of the Canterbury Court of Arches in London; also one of the Governors of the Monastery of Charter House of our Lord King James, founded in London, nominated by the Founder himself. He died the 5^th^ day of April 1633 in the 71^st^ year of his age, leaving behind him his most disconsolate widow Apolina, and six children; namely four sons and two daughters."

Browne

"Hereafter Followeth Guiftes and Confirmations of Coates & Creasts."

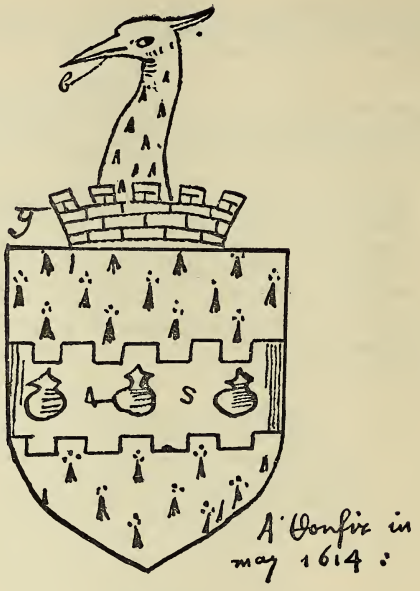

Fig. 3.

In this manuscript the grants are distinguished from the confirmations by having the word "patten" (patent) written above them.

At the Visitation of Derbyshire made by Sir William Dugdale in 1663, Edmund Browne and William Browne, sons of Thomas Browne above, certified the pedigree entered (Vincent C. 34, Coll. Arms). This pedigree is endorsed: "Respite taken for proofe of these Armes: but no proofe made." And then, in a later hand: "But vide M. 2 fo. 3 in Coll. Arms," referring to Camden's grant (Fig. 1—see Plate).

Also in the same MS., folio 90, is the following:—

> "The names of such persons residing in the County of Derby as had respit given them to make proofe of the Armes they pretend to.
> Wirksworth Hundred } Edm. Browne of Hungry Bentley."

Adding that "no proofe was made within the time Limited."

At the Visitation of London made by Sir Henry St. George (Coll. Arms, K.G. 75) 30 June 1687, Rupert Browne of London certified the pedigree and arms entered, from his father the last-mentioned Edmund Browne.

No instance has been met with of the Brownes of Caverswall, the ancestors of the Shredicot and Hungry Bentley families, having made use of coat armour, as in the sealing of wills and so forth; and it is very probable that when Thomas Browne came to London to study the law he adopted the coat of arms which was afterwards confirmed to him by Sir W. Camden as above. Had his family borne coat armour before him, he would have been able to make proof of it, and there would not have been any necessity for having the coat of arms confirmed to him anew.

The correct description and blazonry of the crest and arms as granted to Thomas Browne can only be obtained from Sir W. Camden's original sketch (Fig. 3). In nearly all of the subsequent "trickings" the arms and crest have, through negligence or ignorance, been incorrectly delineated. They are:—

The Crest: Out of a mural coronet (of five battlements) gules, a stork's head issuing ermines beaked azure.

[In Camden's original sketch (Fig. 3) five battlements are given and should be retained. In Figures 1 and 2 only four are given; and in the official Visitations of 1663 and 1687 three only are shewn. It should also be observed that the stork's head is ermines (white spots upon black ground), and not ermine (black spots upon white ground) as the shield. In Camden's original tricking no mention is made of the blazonry of the stork's head, but as it is registered ermines in the College of Arms, such proof may suffice.]

THE ARMS: Ermine, on a fess embattled counter-embattled (five battlements above) sable three escallop shells argent.

The arms of Thomas Browne are thus emblazoned (1633) above his tomb in Bradeley Church, co. Stafford, impaling the arms of Southaicke in right of his wife.

The foregoing abstracts include every Upton will and administration recorded in London prior to the year 1758. Probably as many more may be found in the local registries of the different dioceses of England and in the courts called "Peculiar." I have memoranda of the will of Hugh Upton of Brixham, dated 1624, proved at Exeter; and of wills, all proved at Chester, of the following persons, viz., John Upton of Winslow, 1582; Lawrence Upton of Prestbury, 1606; John Upton of Danerow, yeoman, 1629; and John Upton of Bollinfer, husbandman, 1641.

There were but fourteen Upton wills recorded in Dublin prior to the year 1800. Of the makers of these, three were of the Castle Upton family (viz., Nos. 98 and 128, ante, and Arthur Upton, whose will, dated 8 April 1763, proved 10 Nov. 1769, mentions only his wife Sarah); six, of whom the earliest is No. 105, ante, were of co. * The son Hamond Upton made will No. 12.

† This is, of course, the distinguished Knight of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, Sir Nicholas or the Chevalier Upton, whom the Uptons of Devonshire have long been prone to claim as a fair branch from their family tree. He is called "Knight of the Rodes" in the Lincoln Visitation of 1564. He did not long remain in Lincolnshire to attend to his "swannes," but was soon "promotyd by the Religion," and early became one of the most valiant Knights of the Order. Even a search of the records at Malta does not disclose many facts regarding him. If it is true, as has been stated, that he made an attack on the famous corsair Dragut at Tarsheu in Malta in 1546, that may have been the service for which he was rewarded by being chosen, Oct. 5, 1547, "Auditor Computorum" for the "venerable Language of England." Nov. 15, 1547, he was appointed, by Grand Master Omedes, "Commander of Repton (or Ripston) in the Language of England," and shortly after he was exalted to the dignity of Turcopolier—the third dignitary in the Convent ; one entry states that the Grand Master and Counsel chose him, "Nicolaum optum," "in locum tenentem Turcopulerij seu turcopulcriatus" 22 Dec. 1547, while another says they chose "nicolaum octum" "in tercupulerium relegionis" 5 Nov. 1548. In 1551 Dragut attempted to land in Malta, but was repulsed by the knights headed by Upton ; and upon that occasion he added greatly to his laurels. He is said to have died in July of that year, probably of sunstroke, though one account says "of his wounds."

‡ Testator was eldest son of Nicholas Upton who made will No. 147.

§ The wife Elizabeth was daughter of William Copledike.

‖ Sic, but the father bequeathed Adryan 40s. per annum.

¶ Dorothy had formerly been wife of Robert Barret, mentioned in will No. 147.

 The testator was son of Hamond Upton who made will No. 17.

†† This Frances Upton, who died at Northolme in 1643, had by her husband, Rev. Everard Dighton, a daughter Mary, born at Northolme 1639 (who married Thomas Dobbs and had issue Thomas and Mary), and an only son William, born at Croft 1641, who died s.p. 1702. Everard Dighton married (second) widow Frances Saltmarshe, and (third) Frances Andrewes, widow, daughter of Edward, second son of Lord Willoughby of Parham, the gallant defender of Barbadoes against the fleet under Sir George Ayscue.

‡ The Act Books for the Archdeaconry of Lincoln (the greater part of the county), long lost and but recently discovered, contain administrations from the year 1558, but the index begins with the year 1700. The Act Books for the Archdeaconry of Stow contain administrations from 1530, and are indexed from 1580. The above, from the Lincoln Archdeaconry, is the only Upton administration in these indices.

Wood of Hareston.

The family of Wood resided on their estate of Hareston in the parish of Brixton, Devonshire, from the 8th year of Edward III. till the present representative of the race sold the property, in portions, in the years 1868-69. There were nineteen descents of the Woods, from father to son, when John Wood left an only daughter, who married John Winter, a descendant of Sir William Winter, who commanded the "Vanguard" during the conflicts with the Spanish Armada. The Winter family were from Gloucestershire, and the name was originally spelt Wintour. The present representative of the families, Thomas Winter Wood of Plymouth, retook the name of Wood by royal letters patent, dated 12 Nov. 1850, and, by a strange though by no means uncommon caprice of fortune, sold the property a few years after as before mentioned.

The greater portion of the mansion house was destroyed by fire about the year 1700 ; but the chapel, embattled porch, and a few gables still remain ; the mullions, turrets, corbels, and facings are all of solid granite. The terminations of the granite label over the door of the entrance-porch bear the arms of Wood on the right side and of Fortescue on the left, clearly indicating that the house was built by John Wood in the reign of Henry VII., and who, in the family pedigree, is represented to have died in the 30th year of Henry VIII., after having been married to Jone Fortescue a great number of years.*

The house is now occupied as a farm homestead. There is an aisle in the parish church, surrounded by a carved screen, which is attached to the residence by a faculty from the diocese of Exeter, and was always preserved with jealous care, and repaired by the owners of Hareston.

The two first portraits painted by Sir Joshua Reynolds on his return to Plympton from the studio of Hudson, then the most famous portrait painter in London, with whom he had passed two years of close study, are still in possession of the Wood family.

Burke's 'Commoners' gives the descent of the Woods from the before-named John Wood, who married Jone Fortescue ; and the same authority also says "from the Woods of Hareston, Alderman Sir Matthew Wood, Bart., claims descent."

In Memory
Of Sir Stewkeley Shuckburgh Baronet,
Son of S^{r} John Shuckburgh by Abigal
Daughter of John Goodwin Esq^{r}.
In his private Capacity
He was a Steady & Sincere Friend,
A kind and indulgent Master:
In his publick
A zealous Advocate for the Liberties,
And a Faithful Dispenser of the Laws
Of his Country.
Perpetual Struggles with ill Health
Disabled him from exerting those Social Talents, which would have indear'd him to Mankind:
But from those Struggles he took occasion to Shew
That hardest duty of a Christian
A Cheerful Submission to the Divine Will.
His retirement was Spent in improving his Mind
And preparing himself for Eternity.
He was exactly regular in the Duties of his Closet
And his behaviour in this house
Was an example of that Seriousness & Fervour, which become the place of God's publick Worship.
He died at Bath unmarried the 6th of March 1759
Aged 47 Years.

A long report of this charity will be found in the 'Further Report of the Commissioners for Inquiring Concerning Charities,' 1825, Report xiii., pp. 356-7. The last Deed of Appointment of Trustees is dated 2 Sept. 1875. The total income now derived from the gift is £45 per annum : of which £42 10s. is distributed amongst the poor, and the remaining £2 10s. is paid to the Vicar of the parish, according to the donor's wishes, for preaching two sermons, the one upon 13 Dec., and the other upon St. John the Baptist's Day. There are about 100 donees, who at each half-yearly distribution receive sums varying from 1s. to 9s. They are carefully selected from the deserving poor of the parish, which contains over five thousand inhabitants.

"ffrom the Caverswalls it came by descent to the Montgomeries, and from them to Gifford, from Gifford to Porte, and from Porte to my Lord of Huntingdon now owner thereof in the right of the Countesse his wife. The Castle† was lately in reasonable good repaire, but now is almost quite decayed by one Browne ffarmer of the demeanes which I think he p[ro]cured (if a man might guesse att the cause), lest the Lord should take a conceipt to lyve and soe take the demeanes from him."

* This word is almost defaced, and will probably soon become quite illegible.

† The Castle was rebuilt 1627—1630; it is said from a design by Inigo Jones. The present owner is Sir Joseph Percival Pickford Radclyffe, Bart., of Rudding Hall, York.

* If such an inscription exists, it is unquestionably entirely erroneous, and is probably due to a modern attempt to perpetuate the memory of Anthony Upton who died in 1669. The following is furnished me as a translation from the Latin of this erroneous inscription:

"Inscription to Anthony Upton who died on the 6th May 1619, at the age of 48.

"Here lieth Anthony Upton third son of John Upton, Esquire, and of Dorothy his wife. Born at Lupton in the County of Devon, 1571, he passed over early in life to Seville. There he lived as a merchant for thirty years, and, by his integrity and skill, advanced in the good opinion of his country as much as he increased in wealth, while he enhanced the fame of the most celebrated of the marts in Spain. Firm in his constancy to God as to himself, by his unchangedness in religion in the midst of a heterodox people, by the uprightness and justice of his dealings among merchants, he made himself beloved by foreigners through whose means he had been enriched. What remained of wealth after a life of generosity and munificence, he bequeathed in legacies to his nephews and nieces, sixty in number. He left a numerous family to mourn his loss, overwhelming them with benefits. His ashes, which were sent over from Spain, were followed to the grave by five brothers and five sisters deploring his loss."

Compare No. 64 of Abstracts of Wills, ante. Much of this is quite applicable to the real Anthony, who was born about 1621 and died in 1669.

BRADLEY.

POOR'S LAND—CHARITIES OF ANN BROWN, APPALINE BROWN, AND JOHN ALSOP.

By indentures of lease and release of 24^th and 25^th of March 1785, Major Dain, in consideration of £30 paid by the Rev. Sampson Wright, vicar, and Edward Brindley and John Turner, churchwardens and overseers of the poor of the parish of Bradley, being money by them received from sundry well-disposed persons, to be laid out in a purchase for the poor of the said parish, conveyed to the said Sampson Wright, Edward Brindley, and John Turner, and their heirs, three gardens, at Coton Clanford, the parish of Seighford, in the county of Stafford, in trust, that they and the survivors or survivor of them, and his heirs, should apply the rents and profits thereof, in bread or otherwise, to and amongst such of the poor of the parish of Bradley, as they the trustees, whilst any of them should be living, should think fit, and afterwards as the vicar and churchwardens of the parish of Bradley for the time being should direct and appoint.

At the beginning of an overseer's book for this parish is a list of gifts to the poor, in which it is mentioned that 16s., the interest of £20 in the Rev. Mr. Wright's hands, is distributed yearly, on the Sunday after Candlemas. From a note at the bottom of this page, and a subsequent entry in the book, it appears that this money, part of £30, was laid out in the above-mentioned purchase. In the list of parish charities, made by Mr. Wright, in 1787 the £20 appears to be made up of the following benefactions:—

John Alsop 1783	£5	0	0

And the rent being then £2 3s. 6d. is apportioned among them, as the produce of those benefactions. From whence the additional £10 of the purchase-money was derived does not appear.

---

* The book is endorsed "Entry book of the Wigley Family." The document there given is a copy of the original certificate which was probably given to the grantee.

† "Roger" erased.

The land consists of three small gardens, let to Thomas Wetton, as yearly tenant, at the high rent of £3 per annum. He took them at this rent, wishing to have them in his possession, as they adjoin other land which he holds; but he has intimated that he shall give them up, if the rent is not lowered.

The rent is given away upon New Year's Day to the settled poor, indiscriminately, whether they receive parish pay or not.

The land in 1885 was in the tenancy of Ephraim Owen at a yearly rent of £2. A portion of the rent is given away in money (£1) on New Year's Day; 10s. 6d. in bread on Candlemas Day; and 10s. 6d. in bread on Easter Sunday, to the poor indiscriminately.

Ormsby Pedigree.—Thomas Ormsby, the first name mentioned, Pedigree D, p. 221, Vol. II., Second Series, was grandfather and not father of Francis who married Mary Madden. There was an intervening Francis whose wife's name I have not discovered. Thomas had two other sons not mentioned, namely, Henry and Thomas, and may have had more. Rebecca Ormsby, on same page, set down as wife of Morris, had by him two sons, Theophilus and Frederick, and a daughter.

SHREDICOTE, CO. STAFFORD.

Shredicote is a hundred within the parish of Bradeley,† about three miles from the town of Stafford.

The Shredicote Estate must not be confused with another estate of a similar name, but known as the "Shredicote Hall" Estate, as the properties adjoin and both are situated in the parish of Bradeley. Shredicote Hall was never in the possession of the Browne family. For many generations it belonged to the Horton family, until it was sold by Mr. James Horton, by deed dated 3 May 1710, to the Rev. Samuel Peploe, M.A., then Vicar of Preston in Lancashire, afterwards Lord Bishop of Chester, who, as will be seen, also acquired the Shredicote Estate after his marriage with Anne, only daughter of Thomas Browne, Esq., of Shredicote.

The first of the Browne family‡ who resided at Shredicote, and probably acquired the estate, was Thomas Browne, a Proctor of the Arches Court of Canterbury. He was living there in 1614 with his wife Apollonia, daughter of George Southaicke of London, and widow of William

* Continued from p. 232.

‡ There can be little doubt that this Thomas Browne was the first owner of Shredicote, although the following MS. note in the handwriting of Mr. Samuel Pipe-Wolferstan, inserted at the foot of page 79 in vol. ii. of a copy of Shaw's 'Staffordshire' in the Library of the British Fayrefax, goldsmith, of London. He died at Shredicote and was buried at Bradeley in 1633. By his will, dated 1630, he entailed Shredicote upon his eldest-surviving son, George Browne, who resided there, and married Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Skrymshire, Kt., of Aqualate, co. Stafford. George Browne died intestate in 1652, when the estate descended to his eldest son Thomas Browne, who married first Mary Carr of Aqualate. Their eldest son George Browne, who died unmarried in the lifetime of his father, by will, dated 31 May 1711, in which his father joined, directed that the Shredicote Estate should be sold on a fair valuation to his brother-in-law the Rev. Samuel Peploe, M.A., who had married his sister Anne Browne, and who was then owner of Shredicote Hall. The proceeds of this sale were distributed in certain legacies: viz., £200 to each of the four children of the said Rev. Samuel Peploe, and the remainder was divided into equal portions between the children of James Browne (deceased) and of John Browne, brothers of George Browne.

With the Shredicote title-deeds are indentures, dated 19 and 20 March 1710, made between William Lee and Frances his wife, of the first part; Thomas Browne of "Shredicott" in the co. of Stafford, yeoman, and George Browne, son and heir-apparent of the said Thomas Browne, of the second part; and Simon Aston of the Priory in parish of Bradley, yeoman, of the third part. In consideration of £250, Thomas Browne and George Browne conveyed sixteen acres of land adjoining the Priory land unto the said Simon Aston in fee, etc.

By indentures, dated 29 and 30 Nov. 1727, the Right Rev. Samuel Peploe, B.D., Lord Bishop of Chester, settled Shredicote on the marriage of his son and heir, the Rev. Samuel Peploe, with Elizabeth Birch. They had issue a son John Peploe, who took the name of Birch, and, by will dated 20 July 1803, devised Shredicote to his son Samuel Peploe, Esq., who conveyed it, by deed dated 25 March 1807, to Thomas Blurton, Esq., of Longnor Hall, Bradeley, in consideration of the payment of the sum of £8000 by the said Thomas Blurton.

The latest transition of this property took place when Thomas Blurton, the last purchaser, by deed dated 29 Sept. 1859, conveyed the estate, consisting of the farmhouse and 208 acres of land to George Paddock, Esq., of Grove House, Hanley, co. Stafford, in whose possession it now remains.

The Shredicote Hall Estate also descended to the said Samuel Peploe, and was sold, by deed dated 24 June 1807, to John Blurton, Esq., for the sum of £8600. It was again sold in 1817, when Mr. Matthew Parkes became the owner. He died in 1848, and Shredicote Hall now belongs to his daughter, Miss M. E. Parkes of Severn Cliff, Bridgnorth, co. Stafford.

Shredicote is within a mile of Bradeley Church. The house appears to have been rebuilt and converted into a farmhouse, as, beyond an old wall of some thickness, there is nothing indicative of antiquity. It stands within a short distance of Shredicote Hall, which appears to be an ancient structure, likewise converted into a farmhouse.*

These estates being adjacent, considerable doubt has arisen regarding the identity of the property held by the Browne family. It was not until a careful search had been made through the title-deeds of the respective owners, Mr. G. Paddock, of the Shredicote Estate, and Mr. E. H. Wright, of Stafford, on behalf of Miss Parkes, of the Shredicote Hall Estate, that this could be definitely determined.

The title-deeds of the Shredicote Hall Estate plainly shew that it never was in the possession of the Browne family, while the title-deeds of the Shredicote Estate conclusively prove that Shredicote had formerly belonged to that family.†

Museum, seems to shew that Shredicote was first in the possession of Thomas Browne's cousin William, son of Ralph Browne of Caverswall:—

"By information of I[saac] H[awkins] B[rowne, Esq.] to S. P. W. [the writer] about 1791, his family was of Shredicote in Cuddleston hundred; Plott's map gives the arms of Browne of that place nearly as in the text here. Carew, son & heir appa^t of Walter Stury of Rossall, co. Salop, aged 22 at its Visitat^n 1623, marries Mary dau^r to Tho^s Browne of Shredicote. And in T. Brailesford's Continuat^n of Derb^re Visit^n 1569 MS. p. 110 stands 'Tho. Browne de Shredicote,' & under as if son 'Edmund' ma^d to Dor^y dau^r of Sir Edw. Vernon of Sudbury with a son Thomas & 4 dau^s. (But elsewhere, viz., in a Chetwy-Burt sheet, Edm. B. is called of Bentley, co. Derby.)

"A Whitehall pedigree found in Mr. Chetwynd's MS. Pyrehill volume from Ingestree (one of many loose sheets marked 'Burt. Coll.') has 'Willielm Browne de Shredicote son to Rad^s Browne of Caverswall by Mary Whitehall (first marr^d to Rob. Porter of Stallington) a dau^r of Will^m Wh^l [Whitehall] of Bloxwich by Mary da^r & coh^r of J^n Hardwick of Lindley; which latter named Mary died 1565.

"It adds somewhat to this authority that Burton's great-grandm^r was own sister to Mary Hardwick."

It is quite certain that Ralph Browne of Caverswall married in 1563 Marie Porter, but I have been unable to obtain any further corroboration of the above statement. His fourth son William was baptized in 1574. He may have possessed Shredicote and sold it to his cousin Thomas Browne. He certainly did not reside there, as previous to the appearance of the baptisms of the children of Thomas Browne and his wife Apollonia in the Bradeley Registers no entries of the Browne family occur in those records, which date from 1538.

* My grateful thanks are due to the Rev R. Lomas Lowe, M.A., Vicar of Bradeley, who walked over to Shredicote with me in August 1884, and gave much kind assistance.

† This is of course assuming that the title-deeds of the two estates were kept separate while in the possession of one owner. There cannot, I think, be any doubt that such was the case.

There is no record of the purchase of this estate by Thomas Browne, nor does he allude to the manner in which it was acquired, as in the case of his other property, when bequeathing it in his will.

Previous to the restoration of Longford Church in 1826, the seat belonging to Bentley Hall was on the left-hand side of the centre aisle. It was then absorbed in the choir seats, and "a large seat was neatly fitted up at the expense of the parish and appropriated to Bentley Hall," which, however, is now in the parish of Alkmonton.

Inscription upon a black marble stone at the end of the middle aisle in Longford Church, co. Derby:—

"Hic jacet corpus Edmundi Browne de Bentley Armigeri qui obiit vicessimo septimo die Junii Anno Domini mdclxxxiv Ætatis 73."

The above tablet was visible in Longford Church about 1820, when the above copy was made by the Rector for Lieut. John Browne. It seems to have been removed at the restoration of the church in 1826, as there is no such inscription there now.

* Compiled by J. A. BRADNEY, Esq., B.A., from title-deeds, parish registers, and wills.

For much relating to the Probyns the compiler is indebted to the pedigree of that family published by Sir John Maclean in the 'Transactions of the Bristol and Gloucestershire Archæological Society.' It will be observed that he has been able to correct several mistakes which had crept into the pedigree as published.

Arms borne by the family and are to be seen on the monument in Llanfihangel Church, 1749: Sable, on a chevron between three pistols argent as many roses gules. In 1734 a grant was made to John Hopkins (afterwards Probyn): Ermine, on a fesse gules a lion passant-guardant argent, a canton of the second charged with a rose or.

BENTLEY HALL.

The ancient residence of Bentley Hall faces the high-road from Longford to Cubley in Derbyshire, at a distance of three miles from Longford and ten from the town of Derby. The Hall stands upon the manor of Hungry Bentley, which is of considerable antiquity, being mentioned in 'Doomsday Book.' Through the kindness of its present proprietor, S. W. Clowes, Esq., enhanced by the courtesy of his Solicitors, Messrs. Taylor, Kirkman, and Colley, of Manchester, I have obtained full information from the title-deeds with respect to the acquisition and possession by the Browne family of this property.

An epitome of title with the deeds recites as follows:—"20 April 1613. By deed enrolled Lord Windsor in consideration of £2600 Grants The Manner of Hungrie Bentley etc. to Thomas Brown and his heirs."

Thomas Browne, the purchaser, was a Proctor of the Arches Court of Canterbury, and was born at Caverswall in 1561. He died at Shredicote (another and the chief family property) in 1633, and was buried in Bradeley Church, where his kneeling effigy is still to be seen. By will dated 27 Oct. 1631, he entailed the Hungry Bentley Estate upon his third-surviving son Edmund Browne, who it is known resided there, and married Dorothy, daughter of Sir Edward Vernon. Edmund was buried in Longford Church in 1684, having executed a deed, dated 25 Feb. 1663, which limited the estate as to part for 99 years to himself if he so long lived, with residue and remainder to his eldest son Thomas Browne, subject to a term vested in him the said Edmund Browne for securing the payment to him by his son of £1200 by instalments. The deed being practically a conveyance of the estate (on sale) to his son. Thomas Browne resided at Bentley, and married Grace, daughter of Anthony Crofts, Esq. He died there in 1708, having entailed Bentley, by will dated 22 May 1708 (of which probate does not seem to have been granted), upon his eldest son, also Thomas Browne. This Thomas married Alice, daughter of Richard Simpson, Esq., and died at Bentley in 1717, having entailed the estate by will, dated 12 Sept. 1717 (which document at his death could not be found, and an affidavit and draft will were filed), upon his eldest son Rupert Browne. It is believed that this Rupert restored and enlarged Bentley Hall, adding the "Queen Anne" portion. He married Eleanora, daughter of Roger Corbet, Esq., and died at Bentley in 1733, at the age of 35. By will dated 3 April 1733, his eldest son Thomas Browne succeeded to the property. He married in 1748 Catherina, daughter of Charles Yonge of Shrewsbury, and within one year after his marriage, by deeds dated 21 Feb. 1749, and in which his mother joined, he conveyed the whole of the estate for £12,000 to Edward Wilmot, Esq., M.D., of Jermyn Street, London (created a Baronet in 1759). The property thus alienated by Thomas Browne remained in the Wilmot family for four generations, when it was conveyed by Sir Henry Sacheverel Wilmot, Bart., by deed dated 27 March 1860, to the Trustees of Lord Vernon; and it was finally conveyed by the present Lord Vernon, by deed dated 15 April 1878, to S. W. Clowes, Esq., of Norbury, Ashbourne, co. Derby, in whose possession it now remains.

In 1878 the estate consisted of 1040 acres, at a rental of about £2000 per annum.

The principal portion of the house is brick quoined with stone and stone mullioned windows. The Hall proper was built in the earlier part of the seventeenth century, most probably by the purchaser, Thomas Browne; and the "Queen Anne" addition was made to it probably by Rupert Browne in the earlier part of the eighteenth century. It is now used as a farmhouse, and at the time of my visit in August 1884 was tenanted by the late John Massey, whose grandfather and uncle had held the farm in the same way. The fireplace in the hall, partly bricked up in 1848, measures 10 feet across and 4 feet in recess. There is a very massively carved-oak staircase in the old portion of the house about 5 feet wide. The staircase in the later portion is about 8 feet in width, built of plain oak with oaken balustrade and balusters of curiously twisted wrought-iron. The entrance-door to this later hall is 12 feet high. Inside this hall there still hang several large old allegorical paintings in oil and in distemper. One of them I ascertained represented "Joan of Arc." These relics of former grandeur, in their tarnished gilt frames, have a very melancholy appearance in the old house, which is now fast going to decay. I could not learn anything of their history beyond the fact that they had "always been there."

He married Eleanora, daughter of Roger Corbet, Esq., and died at Bentley in 1733, at the age of 35. By will dated 3 April 1733, his eldest son Thomas Browne succeeded to the property. He married in 1748 Catherina, daughter of Charles Yonge of Shrewsbury, and within one year after his marriage, by deeds dated 21 Feb. 1749, and in which his mother joined, he conveyed the whole of the estate for £12,000 to Edward Wilmot, Esq., M.D., of Jermyn Street, London (created a Baronet in 1759). The property thus alienated by Thomas Browne remained in the Wilmot family for four generations, when it was conveyed by Sir Henry Sacheverel Wilmot, Bart., by deed dated 27 March 1860, to the Trustees of Lord Vernon; and it was finally conveyed by the present Lord Vernon, by deed dated 15 April 1878, to S. W. Clowes, Esq., of Norbury, Ashbourne, co. Derby, in whose possession it now remains.

In 1878 the estate consisted of 1040 acres, at a rental of about £2000 per annum.

The principal portion of the house is brick quoined with stone and stone mullioned windows. The Hall proper was built in the earlier part of the seventeenth century, most probably by the purchaser, Thomas Browne; and the "Queen Anne" addition was made to it probably by Rupert Browne in the earlier part of the eighteenth century. It is now used as a farmhouse, and at the time of my visit in August 1884 was tenanted by the late John Massey, whose grandfather and uncle had held the farm in the same way. The fireplace in the hall, partly bricked up in 1848, measures 10 feet across and 4 feet in recess. There is a very massively carved-oak staircase in the old portion of the house about 5 feet wide. The staircase in the later portion is about 8 feet in width, built of plain oak with oaken balustrade and balusters of curiously twisted wrought-iron. The entrance-door to this later hall is 12 feet high. Inside this hall there still hang several large old allegorical paintings in oil and in distemper. One of them I ascertained represented "Joan of Arc." These relics of former grandeur, in their tarnished gilt frames, have a very melancholy appearance in the old house, which is now fast going to decay. I could not learn anything of their history beyond the fact that they had "always been there."

Thoresby's 'History of Leeds' gives the pedigree of the above Bishop of Ely, who was born, I gather, at S^t^ Neot's, Hunts, and his arms are stated as, "Gules, a chevron between three boars' heads coupè argent." Who represent these two Bishops, and can any one give their pedigrees down to the present time? Mary, daughter of William White of Newport, Rhode Island, United States of America, married 1727 or 1728 William Ball of Philadelphia, and it is believed that she belonged to the same family as one of these Bishops, and as to this information is very much desired.

END OF THE SECOND EXISTING BOOK OF BAPTISMS.

In a chapel on the north side of the parish church of Brympton d'Evercy, in the county of Somerset, is a stately marble monument, erected by John Sydenham to the memory of his father, Sir John Sydenham, Kt., who died in 1625, and his ancestors. A Corinthian column at each corner supports the fine canopy, and the whole is adorned with many coats of arms, which, commencing on the north side, illustrate, as it were, the pedigree of the family. On either side the canopy is surmounted by the arms of Sir John Sydenham, on the north impaling those of his first wife, and on the south the arms of his second; each coat is flanked by a small shield supported by a ram. Round the edge of the canopy are thirteen shields, on which are impaled the arms brought in by various matches. On each side of the tomb itself are three large shields: those on the north side bearing the arms of Sydenham, impaling those of Audley, Bruges, and Godolphin, with their various quarterings; on the south are the arms of John Sydenham, who erected the monument, his sister impaled with those of her husband Edward Paston, and another coat in which the sinister side is not filled in. Probably it was meant to await the marriage of Sir Ralph Sydenham, a younger brother of the founder. At the west-end base is the large quartered coat of Sir John Sydenham, impaling the arms of

* Communicated by H. STANLEY HEAD, Esq.

Buckland with its nine quarterings. At the head of the tomb, surmounted by the helmet, crest, and lambrequin, is the Sydenham coat of twelve quarterings, beneath which is the following inscription:—

"My foundir Sydenham, match'd with Hobye's Heyr,
Badde me inform thee (gentle Passenger)
That what hee hath donne in mee is onlie meant
To memorize his father and s discent
Without vayne glorye but he doth intreat
That if thou comst his legende to repeate
Thou speak him truly as he was and than
Report it so, hee dyed an honest mane—
10 November 1626."

In the accompanying sketches I have tricked the arms as they exactly appear on the monument, while in the pedigree I have given the arms according to the authority of the Heralds' College. There are several errors of the carver and painter, such as substituting choughs for martlets in the Guilford coat; and a field vert for azure in that of Fitz-James. Many of the quarterings seem to have been brought in without any reason, and contrary to the laws of arms. The coat borne by the family of Delingrige seems to have properly belonged to Hertley, whose heir married Thomas Delalynde, and the descendants continued to bear the arms until the heiress married Robert de Delingrige, whose daughter brought them into the Sydenham family. In the shield of Sydenham, impaling Godolphin (c), there appears as a quartering a coat which is ascribed to the name of Donmare, but no trace can I find of a connection with such a family, or mention of such a coat in any pedigree of Sydenham. I have also been unable to find the match which brought in the arms of Balune to the Godolphin coat, though the name occurs in other Cornish pedigrees. Nor am I able to trace any other alliance with the family of Bonython than that of Thomas Godolphin, a brother of William Godolphin, which of course would not bring in the coat to the Sydenhams. There seems to be but little record of the Buckland family, though the nine quarterings represented on the tomb are given in a collection of Somersetshire pedigrees at the Heralds' College, with the slight difference that the three escallops in the arms of Cleveden are within a bordure sable. Most of the quarterings must, I think, have been brought in by the marriage of James Fitz-James with the heiress of Draycot of Redlinch, co. Somerset—a very ancient family, but of which I have been able to find but little. That there was doubt about the identity of some of the early quarterings seems clear by a letter which is preserved among the Egerton MSS. at the British Museum, in which Mr. Prince, writing in 1712 to Philip Sydenham, says, "I am sorry, Sir, I can't give you the satisfaction you desire, in adjusting the matches of your family. And I must declare I am altogether as unsatisfied at your disowning Sydenham of Somerset, his marrying the daughter and heir of Sydenham of Devon, when the first of those matches, in your most curiously engraved Atchievement (for which I humbly thank you) gave the coat belonging to your name in this county, viz., The Bend fusilee, according to the unanimous Testimony of all our Antiquaries. Nor do I anywhere find it ever did belong to Kitsford, nor indeed so much as the name to any Book of Heraldry I have yet met with. As to the 3rd Coat which you say belongs to Dallingrig, though I meet with y^{e} name in Fuller, yet I cannot find this coat there as belonging to it. But this I do in the 49th page of his Worthys, that it did belong to Green of Drayton. The account I lately sent you agrees very well with 5 of the matches in your Atchievement; only my Author puts Godolphin before Sturton. How he comes to differ in that, & the 3 later coates, I cannot tell; but tis possible the Heralds may be able to adjust the matter."

SLANY, BRADGATE, AND WELD.

Of the numerous printed pedigrees of the Weld family, that given in Harl. Soc. Publ., xviii., 244 ('Visitation of Cheshire'), is the only one that notices the fact that Sir Humphrey Weld, Lord Mayor of London in 1608, was twice married. From his first wife Anne, daughter of Nicholas Wheler, Esq., descend the Welds of Lulworth. His second wife was Mary, daughter of Sir Stephen Slany, Lord Mayor in 1595, and widow of Richard Bradgate, citizen and skinner of London. The omission is strange, inasmuch as this second marriage is mentioned both in the monumental inscription to Sir Humphrey, given in Strype's 'Stow,' book iii., 56, and in that to Sir Stephen Slany at book ii., 191, of the same work. These inscriptions no longer exist, but they are confirmed by the will of Sir Stephen Slany, dated 2 Aug. 1598, and proved in the P.C.C. 3 Jan. 1628-9 (5 Dorset), of which his three sons-in-law, of whom Sir Humphrey Weld was one, were overseers.

Richard Bradgate's will was dated 15 Oct. 1589, and proved in the P.C.C. 3 Dec. following. He mentions no children, but makes bequests to his wife's father and mother, and to several of their children. Among his own relatives is named his brother Robert Bradgate.

Robert Bradgate of London, merchant taylor, made his will 15 June 1593, and it was proved in the P.C.C. 3 Sept. following. Amongst many other relatives he mentions two whom he describes as his brother and sister-in-law Humfrey and Mary Weld, and he also makes a bequest to their daughter Joane.

It may be remarked that from the way in which this Joane is here mentioned it seems doubtful whether she was identical with Sir Humphrey's eldest daughter by his first wife, who bore the same name, and became the wife of Sir Robert Brooke of Cockfield, Suffolk.

From the evidences referred to, therefore, it appears that Mary Slany, the daughter of Sir Stephen, had for her first husband Richard Bradgate, who died in 1589, apparently without issue; and for her second, Sir Humphrey Weld, to whom she was married between 1589 and 1593, and whom she survived; and that it is at least possible that this latter union was a fruitful one. The will of Sir Humphrey, which has not been examined in this connection, would probably throw further light upon the matter.

JONES—HAVARD. (See Vol. II., N.S., p. 216.)

I have recently made out that Evan Jones, Surgeon, of Oakham, co. Rutland, was the only son and heir of Evan Jones of Forddfawr, in the parish of Llanddew, near Brecon, by Jane, daughter of Joshua Havard of the parish of Llanvillo, also near Brecon. The Registers at Llanddew only go back to the beginning of this century. The Registers at Llanvillo give "Jane filia Josua" (sic) "Havard de Pen-y-giffordd baptizata fuit nono die Februarij 1696," and, "Gulielmus filius Joshua Havard de Pen-y-giffordd baptizatus erat se'do die Aprilis 1699."

I shall be greatly indebted for any information as to Evan Jones of Forddfawr, Llanddew, and as to his wife Jane, daughter of Joshua Havard of Llanvillo.

GREY OF GROBY AND PIRGO.

Sir Bernard Burke in his Peerage books states that Lord John Grey of Pirgo, fourth son of Thomas Grey, Lord Ferrers of Groby and Marquis of Dorset in 1511–1530, had an only son, Sir Henry, created Lord Grey of Groby, ancestor of the Earls of Stamford. But in the last Calendar of Irish State Papers, edited by H. C. Hamilton, Esq., F.S.A., Assistant-Keeper of the Records, is the following, dated 12 May 1589:—"The answer of Sir Edward Denny to her Majesty's articles touching the proceedings of the undertakers. He has assigned 1000 acres to Mr. Edward Gray, son to Lord John Gray, and is to allot unto farmers, copyholders, etc., according to her Majesty's plot as followeth."

In the same volume Mr. Hamilton calendars a letter, dated May 15, 1590, Youghal, from Edward Gray, suggesting the propriety of placing a band of soldiers at Tralee or Dingle. He seems to have held his lands in Kerry until 1596 or 1600, when he may have died; but in 1640 Daniel Gray, evidently his son, was a householder in Tralee. The name is not mentioned in the depositions of 1642-9, but it reappears in and around Dingle in the seventeenth and eighteenth and present centuries among the respectable middle-class Roman Catholic inhabitants of that district. Can any one versed in east of England genealogies give me some information respecting the Edward Gray of 1588–1600, who has evidently slipped out of the old family history and peerage books, although he was the uncle of Lady Jane Grey and the brother-in-law of the Queen Dowager of France? An Englishman of the sixteenth century, who went to reside permanently in the wild west of Ireland, unless he had a title or a high official position, was probably as much lost to his family as one who went to the Australian Bush before steamers began to ply to the Antipodes. When the former married amongst the Irish native Roman Catholics he was often forgotten even by the Anglo-Irish Protestants around him. Edward Gray of 1592 seems to have married an Irishwoman.

Genealogy of the Family of Harvey, etc.*

NOTES.

(1) Said to have been granted by Segar to Sir Daniel Harvey, but which could not have been the case, inasmuch as the former died when the latter was only about two years of age; the misstatement probably arising from an entry of the blazon as belonging to Sir (?) Daniel being among the dockets of Segar's Grants at the College of Arms, which does not necessarily shew more than that he had some title to such arms. Moreover, the family previously bore the same quarterly with their ancient coat. So that, if by Segar, the grant must have been in confirmation only, and to some earlier member of the family.

(1A) The Parish Register not commencing until 1635, the dates of earlier burials at Folkestone cannot be ascertained therefrom.

(2) He had three sisters and a brother, all married and had issue. The brother's children were Thomas, Joane, and Elizabeth Harvey, all living 12 June 1623.

(3) The Pepperers' was the original of the Grocers' Company of London.

(4) So pronounced, and which would account for the hawks in the Family Arms.

(5) There, in the parish church, the inscription on the memorial brass quaintly describes her as a "godly harmles Woman, a chast loveing Wife, a charitable qviet Neighbovr, a cofortable frendly Matron, a prvident diligent Hvswyfe, a carefvll t'ederharted Mother, deere to her Hvsband, reverensed of her Children, beloved of her neighbovrs, elected of God." This inscription many suppose to have been the veritable production of her son, the great physician himself, and that the brass was erected at his instance; but there is far more reason for believing that the same owe their origin to her husband, who was then living.

(6) As a mark of honour, and not for the study of the law. Brady (Visitor's Guide to Knole, 1839, p. 23), in referring to Thomas, 1st Lord Buckhurst's admission to the Inner Temple (temp. Eliz.), states that it was "then fashionable for every young man of fortune, before he began his travels, or was admitted into Parliament, to be initiated in the study of the law." The latter part of the statement is, however, incorrect. It was certainly customary in those days for elder sons of our gentle families to obtain formal admission to an Inn of Court, but if they went there it was more frequently only for social and residential purposes, to form acquaintances and friendships which might lead to their future advancement, and for an introduction to the world of London life: these Inns having apparently then occupied in a great measure the place of the modern West-End Clubs. And until recently comparatively few of those admitted to our Inns of Courts were called to the Bar.

(7) All burials named herein as "at Hempstead" were in the Family Vault beneath Harvey Chapel; those prior to 1766 being in the "outer," and subsequently in the "inner" chamber. Several of the coffins have, however, since been misplaced.

(8) It would appear from Payne-Fisher's Cat. of Tombs in London Churches, 1666, that there was a M.I. to Dr. Harvey "the [most] famous Physician of his time," and to his brother Daniel "of Folkston" in one of our City churches—probably St. Laurence Pountney—before the Great Fire. He also mentions another (in this, as in all instances, without naming the church) to "M^ris^ Mary Harvie, wife of the late Eliab H., Esq.; and both father and mother of the now Sir Eliab H., Knight-B[art.]; " but which could not have been at St. Laurence Pountney, inasmuch as she not die until 1673, being buried with M.I. at Hempstead, and when the church in question was not extant. The reference, however, shews that the book was partly compiled, and issued, long after the date it bears.

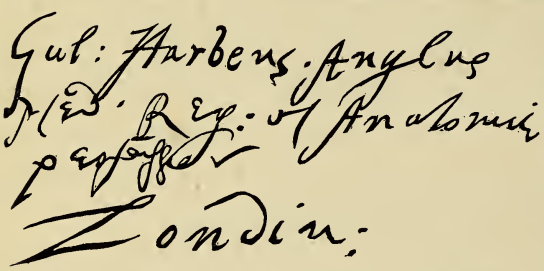
(9) The compiler was among the select few present in the small Harvey Chapel on this memorable occasion, but took no part in the ceremony. And during his sojourn in the neighbourhood carefully copied, under great difficulties, the numerous coffin inscriptions in the family vault, as well as the monumental inscriptions and arms in the Chapel above, and (by kind permission of the Rev. Mr. Eustace, a relative of the family) the Harvey entries in the Parish Register, communicating the results, with copious notes, to the Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica (2nd Series, Vol. I., pp. 357—62 and 384—88). It may be here mentioned that, where differing from such previous notes, this genealogy should be taken as the most correct.

(10) It was, however (with the exception of the Codicil), evidently made some time previously, i.e. between 10 July 1651 and May 1655, when his brother Daniel's wife died—probably shortly after the former date. And was drawn by his "coosin" (nephew) Heneage Finch, afterwards Earl of Nottingham, and Lord Chancellor, to whom he therein bequeaths £100 "for his paines counsell and advice about the contriving" of it. It should be noted that nephews and nieces were at that time frequently also termed cousins—a fact the knowledge of which will prove alike interesting and valuable to Antiquaries, and clear up many a doubt, but which it is believed has never previously been mentioned in print.

(11) So borne on his monument at Hempstead.

(11A) The doctor's autograph is of extreme rarity, as the following note by a well-known authority in such matters, inserted in the Album Amicorum of Phillip de Glarges 1636-41, now in the Brit. Mus. (Add. MS. 23,105), and from which the Latin specimen facsimiled below, dated 8 May 1641, is copied, will testify: "No. 521 of the Sypistien Sale, where I bought it, principally because it contains the autograph of one of the most illustrious men that ever existed—Harvey, who discovered the Circulation of the Blood; and I never could find that his handwriting is to be seen anywhere else tho' I have inquired in all directions. D. T. [Dawson-Turner]." The volume, which formed lot 657 at the latter's sale, 10 June 1859, also contains another note, apparently by the same hand: "It has been commonly supposed that much of Harvey's autograph is to be found in the College of Physicians, or in Caius College, Cambridge, or in St. Bartholomew's Hospital; but I believe there is no authentic specimen of it in any of these; and the late Sir Henry Halford told me, not long before his death, that, as far as he had been able to find, this is the only undoubted one in existence. Where is Dr. Paget's Letter to me about Harvey?" These authorities were, however, to a great extent in error, for not only is his signature to be found among the Rupert Correspondence in Brit. Mus. Add. MS. 18,980, fo. 125, dated 17 Oct. 1643, and from which our other specimen is copied, but his MS. on the circulation of the blood, now in the Sloane Collection, is holograph, as are undoubtedly also three of the four pages and the signatures of his will and codicil in P.C.C., for we have his own evidence therein to that effect; and the compiler, during many years spent in collecting literary rarities, has met with two other specimens of his signature.



(12) Her will was proved in Commissary Court of London 1608.

(13) The Parish Register of this date not being extant, it cannot unfortunately be ascertained whether the marriage took place at "St. Sepulchre's" as named in the Licence. Probably it did (although marriage licences were formerly comparatively seldom complied with in such respect), as both parties resided in the immediate neighbourhood, where, it should be remembered, the College of Physicians then stood. There is no record of the union in the Register of the adjoining Parish Church of St. Martin, Ludgate.

(14) There was a grant to him of a pension of £50 per annum on resigning his place of King's Footman to Toby Johnson, 6 July 1620.

(15) His will, dated 28 June 1636, was proved 22 Feb. following (P.C.C., Goare 14).

(16) Otherwise variously written Coom, Coomb, Comb, Combe Nevill, Combe Neville, Combe Neovill, and Comb Park. This manor, which was purchased by Sir Daniel of Charles, Viscount Cullen, eld. s. of Sir Wm. Cokaine, c. 1652, and sold by the Harveys in 1753 to the Trustees of John Spencer, Esq. (then a minor, and afterwards 1st Earl Spencer), has been frequently confounded with Combe in Croydon, with which the family were also at one period connected.

(17) The earliest Harvey burial entered in Hempstead Burial Register, the same not commencing until April 1665.

(18) Their children at date of his will were Richard (? by his first wife), William, and Benjamin Steele.

(19) He was a Merchant as early as 6 Jan. 1638-9 (Lewes Roberts' Merchants Mappe of Commerce 1638), if not in 1637, and is probably identical with the John Harvey of London, Merchant, who was of parish of St. Andrew Undershaft, and buried at St. Helen's in the North Quire 24 Oct. 1701, leaving a wife Mary surviving—will dated 10 Oct. 1701, proved 10 Nov. following (P.C.C., Dyer 154). There was a John Harvey, Merchant, in Bishopsgate Ward 1640 (see the compiler's List of the Principal Inhabitants of the City of London, 1640, in Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, 2nd Series, Vol. II., p. 37). And a John Harvey, Merchant, of Beerbinder Lane, appears in the first London Directory 1677.

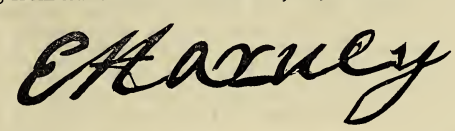
(20) Sir Daniel and Sir Eliab Harvey were knighted same day by Charles II., on his first coming over. They, and Edward Harvey of Combe (who was not even knighted), have frequently been described in error as Baronets.

(21) Said by some English Historians to have been "sent" there as Ambassador, 13 Aug. 1668, which was probably the date of his departure from England. There is a copy of his commission in British Museum (Add. MS. 28,937, fo. 120).

(22) Then described as "of Parish of St. James's, Westminster." Below is a facsimile of her signature, 3 Aug. 1699, from Brit. Mus. Add. MS. 22,910, fo. 485.



(23) The Earldom of Nottingham has been united with that of Winchelsea since 1729, when, upon the death of John, 5th Earl of Winchelsea, unmarried, that title devolved on Daniel, 2nd Earl of Nottingham. This Daniel's next younger brother, Heneage, was created Earl of Aylesford 19 Oct 1714.

(24) She appears to have received from her father-in-law a marriage portion of £3000.

(25) The "anecdote" has been narrated by Hasted (History of Kent) and his copyists, but very incorrectly as to date and circumstances, and without the name of the husband. The secret marriage, which doubtless took place, appears to have been illegally dissolved.

(26) A lady of great personal beauty. Her monumental epitaph was written by Dryden. She had three daughters by her 1st husband, Sir Thomas Whitmore.

(27) By his will he directed a monument to be erected for him in Hempstead Church (then called a "Chapel"), after the model of that in Putney Church for Sir Tho. Dawes, at a cost not exceeding £100, and which monument was subsequently placed on the East wall of the Harvey Chapel, in compliance therewith.

(28) Entered in Parish Register of St. Giles as buried there 28 Nov. 1701.

(29) The marriage portion was £10,000, according to a letter of 20 July 1658, from Rachell, Lady Newport, to her brother Sir R. Leveson, in possession of the Duke of Sutherland. She resided in the house of her nephew, Nicholas Breton, at Norton, near Daventry, co. Northampton, after her husband's death.

(30) The earliest burial in the Harvey vault at Hempstead.

(31) She had licence (Fac. Off. Abp. Cant.) 5 July 1676 to marry Ralph Freeman (of Aspeden, co. Hertford), Bachelor, "aged about 10" (!), she herself being then but little over 8 years (!!). Doubtless the marriage never took place, and probably he died before her union with Eliab Harvey in 1680, when she was but 12½ years of age. And it appears from the entry in the Vicar-General's Book at Somerset House (fo. 410) as to her having been on examination 13 July 1681 found to be a virgin, and obtained licence to marry William Harvey, that such first marriage was not consummated. Her parentage, age, and marriage have hitherto been involved in much doubt and mystery.

(32) M.I. states in error "2 September."

(33) M.I. states "aged 48," but her coffin inscription "æt. 43," which is correct.

(34) By death of his elder brother Eliab he became eldest son and heir.

(35) In the room of Sir Henry Maynard, deceased.

(36) Died 25 Dec. (Gent. Mag.)

(37) The burial carelessly omitted in the parish register.

(38) She appears to have been his "pretty cozin Mistress Mary Harvey," his "wife's goddaughter," mentioned in will of Sir William Whitmore 12 Nov. 1695.

(39) She is described therein as "of Hamels in parish of Braughing, co. Hertford."

(40) Died 10 June. (Gent. Mag.)

(41) Berry (Essex Pedigrees) states 14 Aug.

(42) Died 25 April. (Gent. Mag.)

(42A) Entered R.N. 1769, and was in constant and active service in America, the West Indies, and the Channel for forty years. Particularly distinguished at the Battle of Trafalgar, where he commanded the Téméraire of 98 guns, Nelson's supporting ship. Dismissed the service, May 1809, but restored by an Order in Council, March the following year. With his death the family became extinct in the male line.

(42B) The latest burial in the Harvey vault.

(42C) Married 14 May. (Gent. Mag.)

(43) Born 8 Nov. (Gent. Mag.)

(44) Born 11 Aug. (Gent. Mag.)

(45) Niece of Thomas Grosvenor of Walthamstow, co. Essex, and Cavendish Square, co. Middx., Esq., M.P. for co. Chester.

(45A) In consequence of a fall from her carriage in Hainault Forest.

(46) Entered in Hempstead Burial Register as "Harriott" Harvey.

(46A) Horace Walpole describes him as "bred a Tory," but "very sensible."

(47) His will orders this to be done by his executors at a cost not exceeding £200. It was, however, carried out in his lifetime, two years subsequently.

(48) Died 10 Sept. (Gent. Mag.)

(49) Not entered in the parish register.

(50) Said to have died abroad, which would account for the delay in burial.

(51) They were a pattern of conjugal affection, and it is stated were entitled to, if they did not actually receive, the Dunmow flitch of bacon. (Gent. Mag., 1836, p. 550.)

(52) The manors of Clyfton Mabanke, Bradford, and Wyke were purchased by Eliab Harvey, of London, Esq., 3 Dec. 1649. The deed of feoffment, dated 26 Feb. 1649-50, from Henry Rogers of Canington, co. Somerset, Esq., and Edward Phillipps of Mountague, same county, Esq., granting the same with other lands adjoining, in consideration of £21,300, is in the compiler's possession. Hutchins' Dorset, however, gives the date of purchase of the first-named estate as "about 1660"—"from .... Hungerford, by Michael Harvey." From the above-mentioned deed the facsimile of this Eliab Harvey's signature is taken.

(53) His will (an extremely long one), dated 5 Dec. 1657, was proved 29 April 1658 (P.C.C., Wotton 147).

(54) M.I. states in error "ob. æt. 50," whereas she is described in marriage licence (1664) as "aged 16." Her age at death was 69 or 70.

(55) He was godson to Dr. William Harvey, after whom he was named.

(56) "A weak man, strongly attached to the interest of the Stuart family." (Manning and Bray, Surrey, i., 402.) In a note to an entry of 20 May 1705 in Evelyn's 'Diary,' ed. Bray, he is termed "a violent Tory."

(57) His arms were: Argent, a chevron between three escallops sable.

(58) His arms were: Argent, on a chief gules two bucks' heads cabossed or.

(59) Then described as "of parish of St. Anne, Westminster." She mentions in codicil her "daughter Lady Hinchingbrooke," then living.

(60) Burke (Landed Gentry, 1886) gives her name as "Mary," in error.

(61) Intended to have been married to Rebecca Wolstenholme (afterwards his brother Michael's wife) had not death prevented.

(61A) He bore the ancient and modern family arms quarterly (as did Dr. Harvey), according to an impression of his armorial seal, impaling his wife's arms, on a deed, dated 25 March 1718, in the compiler's possession; and from which deed his facsimile signature is taken.

(62) The parish register states "buried 5 Dec. 1691," and the coffin inscription "deceased 1 Jan. 1691 [1692]." The date of burial having doubtless been entered in error for 5 Jan.

(63) Then described as "of Broad Street in the parish of St. James, Westminster, co. Middx."

(64) Coffin inscription gives her age incorrectly as "47."

(65) Died in his twenty-fifth year. M.I. states in error "aged 22 years." Not buried at Hempstead.

(66) Born 23 Dec. (Coffin and Mon. Ins.)

(67) She and her five sisters were coheiresses of their father.

(68) Not "Georgina," as sometimes stated.

Harvey (or Hervey) Family.—The undersigned, Compiler of the above communication, having, as a labour of love, long been engaged in collecting materials, chiefly from original sources, for (inter alia) a History of the various important families of the name, will be glad to hear direct from any one interested therein, or who may be able and willing to afford information for the purpose of such undertaking, either by the loan of any deeds, documents, papers, or otherwise. And also to hear from members of the same families, and their connections by marriage, and others, both in this country and America, who may be desirous of joining, or of otherwise promoting the objects of a Society (similar to those in the United States) about to be formed for collecting and printing everything of interest relating to the family history—for forming a bond of fellowship between the members, and for their periodical meeting together, etc.

WILLOUGHBY OF LONDON, PORTSMOUTH, AND OF CHARLESTOWN, NEW ENGLAND.

William Willoughby, born about 1588 ; said to have been a native of Kent ; a shipbuilder in the vicinity of London, and a purveyor of timber for the Navy ; taking part in the uprisings of 1642, marched from the Metropolis 17 Oct. 1643 as Colonel at the head of the Yellow Auxiliaries of the Tower Hamlets. He died 30 March 1651, aged 63, a Commissioner of the Navy, at Portsmouth, and was there buried in the church.* In January 1642-3 he had been granted a commission as Captain of one of the Tower Train Bands, being then styled, "Mr. William Willoughby for Ratcliffe." In his will he leaves to the poor of Wapping, where he formerly dwelt ; mentions his wife Elizabeth ; his two sons, Francis and William ; his cousin Lawrence Hammond ; and the poor kindred of himself and wife.

The widow appears to have come to Charlestown, N.E., in the summer of 1662, and there died during the fall following. Her will of May 1662 mentions her late son William Willoughby and Jonathan the eldest son, and Nehemiah, William, and Sarah, children of her son Francis Willoughby, also the children by his now wife, Margaret, viz. : Francis and Nathaniel ; also her sister Anna, wife of Wm. Griffin of Portsmouth ; her sister Jane Hammond of Virginia, mother of Lawrence Hammond ; and John Greene of Charlestown, N.E., servant of her late husband, etc. She mentions as overseers her friends, Robert Thompson (prob. brother-in-law of Gov. Edward Hopkins of Connecticut) and John Taylor (or Tailer), both of the City of London, Esquires. The latter, a shipbuilder of Deptford, and after of Wapping, had been associated with her husband, 1636, in raising the " Anna Royal," which had sunk in the Thames.

William Willoughby, younger son of Col. Wm. Willoughby, died s.p. at Portsmouth, where he was a sub-commissioner of prizes, and was there buried 17 Dec. 1657. His will mentions his wife Mary, and Jonathan, Nehemiah, William, and Sarah, children of his brother (Francis) Willoughby ; also Timothy, son of his brother Lydiat. Francis Willoughby, eldest son of Col. Wm. Willoughby, a shipwright, like his father ; an inhabitant of Charlestown, New England, in August 1638 ; became prominent as a merchant and in public affairs. His first wife, Mary, died in 1640, leaving one child, Jonathan, about five years old. His second wife, Sarah, appears to have been a daughter of John Taylor (or Tailer), shipwright of Wapping, before mentioned, and, to further his suit, he doubtless returned temporarily to England. She was mother of Sarah, Hannah, Nehemiah, Jeremiah, and William. After the death of his father in 1651 he was again in England, whither his wife and family followed in December 1653; he, meanwhile, with the acknowledged rank of Captain, having been appointed to his father's position as Naval Commissioner at Portsmouth. In March 1656-7 he, with Major Robert Thompson, were overseers to will of Ed. Hopkins, Ex-Gov. of Connecticut, and the following year was among the Committee of the Navy (with Mr. Richard Hutchinson, the Treasurer, and Major Nehemiah Bourne), who attended the funeral of the late Protector. Francis Willoughby and John Childe, Esqs., were the Members for Portsmouth in the Parliament sitting 27 Jan. 1658-9. Investigations of the late Col. Joseph L. Chester disclose the fact that about this time Willoughby married his third wife Margaret, widow of Daniel Taylor, Merchant of London, and a daughter of William Lock of Wimbledon, co. Surrey, gentleman. She brought with her a goodly estate, including Aulton Park, in Great Clacton, Essex. He now removed as a merchant to Seething Lane, in the parish of St. Olave, Hart Street, London, where his son Francis was bapt. 29 Feb. 1659-60 ; besides whom he had in England, Nathaniel, and in Charlestown, N.E., Susannah. He returned to New England in 1662, was chosen Dept. Gov. of Mass. Bay Col. May 1665, and died 3 April 1671. His widow died 2 Feb. 1683 the wife of Capt. Lawrence Hammond, her first husband's cousin before mentioned.

Francis Willoughby (son of Nehemiah and grandson of Dep. Gov. Francis Willoughby), Merchant of Boston, living in 1747, æt. 75, appears to have been the last male representative of the family, unless Jonathan Willoughby, eldest son of the Dep. Governor, may still have descendants of the name living. This Jonathan, born in England about 1635, was partly educated at Harvard College, N.E., 1651-4, but did not graduate. Licence was granted 3 Dec. 1661 by the Bishop of London for his marriage at St. Edmund the King, Lombard Street, London, to Grizzle, daughter of Anna Goldisborough, widow, of St. Gregory's by St. Paul's. He returned to New England and preached at Wethersfield and Haddam, Connecticut. His father's will, dated June 1670, speaks of him in terms of censure, as having "cost me much money both in breeding up and severall other ways, to the value of near a treble portion already . . . . it being a griefe of soul to me that he should run out an estate so unprofitably as he hath done to his present suffering," etc., etc.

His half-brother, William Willoughby, who died in August 1678, mentions him in his will (filed at Cambridge, Mass., in Dec. 1694) drawn up a year earlier, as follows :—

"Item : I ordaine the Legacie given me by my grandfather Taylor be equally divided between my sister (Mrs. Sarah) Campfield and my brother Jonathan as a token of my love." This is all we learn of Jonathan ; but on 11 March 1688 his son of the same name gave a deed of confirmation as to sale of certain lands in Gloucester, Mass., to Tristram Coffee of Newbury, styling himself: "Jonathan Willoughby of the parish of St. Martin's Outwich, in the City of London, Barber Chyrurgion, eldest son of Jonathan Willoughby who was eldest son of Francis Willoughby, late of Charlestown, county of Middlesex, New England, Esq., both deceased."

We have seen reference made above to legacies from a grandfather Taylor in will of William Willoughby 1677 ; below we have, in connection with his brother Nehemiah Willoughby, a similar allusion in the will of a cousin John Arnold. The latter, calling himself a mariner of Thames Street, London, now resident in Salem, N.E., bound to sea, in his will, 12 Oct. 1680, proved 28 Jan. 1694-5, makes his cousin, Nehemiah Willoughby of Salem, N.E., his executor and sole heir "in especially as that my legacy left me by my grandfather, John Tailer of Woppin, shipwrite, dec'd, in the hand of John Tailer of Milesend, as he is executor to the last will and testament of my said grandfather, with the legacies given to my brothers Thomas and Samuel, both deceased, by whose deaths their said legacies fell to me, the surviver, according to my said grandfather's will."

The writer of this article would be glad to gather further information as to the antecedents of Col. William Willoughby, and as to his descendants through his grandson, the Rev. Jonathan Willoughby.
